Clark Selects Play Cast for 'Goodbye My Fancy'

Carol Nygaard, Jack Frost, Robert Riggs and Mardell Squire will portray the leading roles in the University Players' production, "Goodbye, My Fancy," Nov. 7 and 8 in the Auditorium.

The tentative cast for the production was announced by Dr. Edwin Clark Friday after three evenings of intensive try-outs.

Miss Nygaard as Agatha Reed, will portray a famous woman correspondent and congresswoman who returns to her alma mater to be honored at commencement. Frost is the Life photographer who has carried the torch for Agatha for six years.

Woody, acted by Miss Squire, is the wise-cracking, sarcastic secretary of Agatha, and Riggs is James Merrill, the president of the institution and a suitor of long-standing for Agatha's hand.

The story concerns the activities of commencement week-end at Good Hope college when Agatha returns to receive an honorary degree. In addition to sparkling adult comedy, the play also contains a condemnation of the educational system.

The cast include Mary Cosford as Ginny, Barbara Zimmerman as Ellen Griswold; Norm Paasch as Claude Griswold; Leonore Marx as Miss Shackleford; Phil Abramson as Prof. Dingley; Ray Nasr as Dr. Pitt; Georgia Redfield as Miss Birdshaw.

Others are: Anita Reznichek as Mary Nell; Jane Englehart as Amelia, Pat Baker as Susan; Syntha Judd as Carol; Derelle Blumer as Jo; Bill Pierson as the telephone man, and Jim Erickson and John Mitchell as the janitors.

The first general meeting of the cast was held in the auditorium Monday evening.

Bus Ad Will Give Next TV Session

"Getting Your Money's Worth" will be the aim of the next TV Classroom sponsored by KMTV and Omaha University. Business Administration Professors William Hockett, Glenn Lewis and R. Wayne Wilson will conduct the TV session on expert management of salary spending and saving. The fifth classroom will open Nov. 3.

The Adult Education has received more letters from other universities asking information about the Classroom. Western Reserve Butler University and University of Utah have established TV Education programs.

The first issue of the Adult Education News will be on the newsstands in two more weeks. The night class, Teaching Journalism, conducted by Lloyd Berg, is writing the first issue of the paper. The Adult Education Department is sponsored by the Adult Education Department and is printed monthly.

Draft Board Will Give Deferment Test Soon

Selective Service boards are now offering application blanks for this year's College Qualification Test.

Students who plan to take the test this year should apply to their local boards immediately. Tests will be given Dec. 4, 1952, and April 24, 1953.

Applications for the December examination must be postmarked no later than midnight, Nov. 1. In addition, the local boards will consider how soon the application came in when studying the student's deferment case.

Opportunity Remains for the 'Bug' Signup

Students still have a chance to get one jump ahead of the Winter nemesis, the flu "bug."

Miss Beldora Tacke, school nurse, will continue to sign up students for the shots through Friday in the Student Health office.

A one-dollar fee will be charged to cover the cost of the vaccine.

The inoculation shots will be given by Miss Tacke from Oct. 13 to 17 at any time during the day. The effect of the inoculation will last from three to four months. The nurse added the students will be able to continue with their classes and the only after-effect will be a normal swelling for a short time.

ROTC Unit Names Eleven Lieutenants

Eleven AF-ROTC cadets have become the first to pass the examinations for the rank of cadet second lieutenant this semester. The eleven took their practical tests last Thursday and Friday.

The new lieutenants are Paul Fesler, John Haury, Roman Hruska, John Jeter, James Klein, Arnold Kriegler, Danny Langevin, Robert Peck, William Pierson, Frank Schuchart and John Vana.

In addition, three new cadet corporals have been named. They are Ronald Keim, Don Maseman and Larry Peters.

Cadet Capt. Robert Biegel, who is in charge of the testing group of the ROTC unit, said that any cadet who took either of these tests and failed should see Biegel as soon as possible.

The examinations are given each Monday morning from 7 to 8 a.m. in the ROTC classroom.

Faculty, Staff Teams Collect Funds for Community Chest

Two projects of the faculty and administrative staff will aid the Omaha Community Chest Drive.

A group of staff members is contacting all employees this week to collect Community Chest pledge cards. A window display on second floor is to remind contributors of their obligations.

Committee chairman is Don O. Nelson. Members of his committee are Hollie Bethel, Bette Erickson, Capt. C. L. Bower, Kilbourn Janacek and Paul Stageman.

Another faculty group will contact all business establishments from Underwood Avenue to Pacific and Forty-second Street to Nineth. A team of 10 members will canvass the area tomorrow through Friday.

Donald Emery and Robert S. McGranahan are co-chairmen of the team. Members include Clifford Ellis, Donald Pflasterer, Glenn Lewis and Harlan Cain. Others are Frank Gorman, William Utley, Jack Woods and Col. Allen Wood.

John W. M. Rothney, professor of education, University of Wisconsin: "Children are better educated, more realistic, more democratic, more self-disciplined and there is less—not more—delinquency among them than formerly."

Warriors Sponsor Migration Day

In an effort to promote more football interest, the men's pep organization will sponsor student busses to the University of South Dakota Saturday night.

Reservations can be made in the checkroom until 2 p.m. today and from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow. Round trip tickets are $4. A deposit of $2 is necessary for each reservation.

Warrior President Harold Sage said that deposits will be refunded if not enough students reserve space on the busses.

Library Planning Committee Meets

The members of the Library Planning Committee had a rendezvous on the lawn Friday afternoon.

An October picnic or book review?

No, the meeting was in the line of duty and of special interest to all students.

The committee members used the afternoon to consult with the architect for the new Library building. The group decided on the site of the building and the way that it would face.

Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian, said, "This is necessary before actual room planning can be done."

Members of the faculty committee include Miss Lord, Robert Harper, Jack Adwers, Donald Emery, Charles Hoff and Wilfred Payne.

Government Classes Help Political Parties

With the election rolling into the final month, University students enrolled in government classes are going to be sure they are right in the middle of it.

William T. Utley, head of the government and history departments has arranged for the students to sign up to work for the Democratic or Republican party campaign.

Of the 38 students who volunteered to help, 31 offered to work for the Republicans and seven for the Democrats. Each of the groups have been down to the respective headquarters and have received tentative instructions. They will be called upon to work at whatever time they are needed.

The idea originated in the Political Parties and Elections class and was then expanded to other students who wanted to volunteer.

Students Will Publish Second Lit Magazine

"The Grain of Sand," Omaha University's Literary Magazine, will have its second publication in December. The magazine will contain original short stories, poetry and essays written by University students.

The deadline on manuscript entries is November 1. All manuscripts should be turned into Room 321. The editorial board, composed of five student members, will read all contributions.

Dr. Robert Harper and Herbert Berry are sponsoring the "Grain of Sand."

Student Singing To Present Picture of Developments

By Gordon Morphew

Pages of OU's past will parade before an all-University convocation tomorrow morning at 9:30. The celebration will commemorate the forty-fourth birthday of the school.

Ten University organizations will aid in the program by portraying, with song and narration, eras of OU's history. These eras will represent various stages from the date of founding in 1908 through our present day University.

Many and varied songs will be sung by the groups and the audience will be asked to join in singing a tribute to President Emeritus Rowland B. Haynes. Appropriate costuming will be done by the organizations to give atmosphere to their various eras.

This week has been designated as Founders Day week by many downtown civic clubs. Today, the Omaha Chamber of Commerce will hold a Public Affairs luncheon to honor all past and present OU Regents. Guest speaker will be A. Douglas Jamieson, president of the Board of Regents at Wayne University of Detroit.

The University string ensemble will present a program for the Chamber luncheon.

Faculty members assisting with arrangements are Richard Brewer, music director, and Bruce Linton, speech instructor. Howard Olson is the student co-ordinator for the convocation.

The "Songs of Yesterday" program marks a new undertaking for the University. Formerly the OU alums had charge of the program. Student participation has promised to give the Founders Day convo the needed "shot in the arm."

Rally Convo Gives Student Pep Boost

Omaha U. students got in the football spirit for the Washburn-OU Band Day game with a pep rally convocation Friday morning in the auditorium.

Under the direction of cheerleader captain Jane Engelhardt, the student body joined the cheerleaders in school yells and songs. Each student attending the rally was given a mimeographed copy of the OU "Fight Song."

Dean of Students, Dr. Jay B. MacGregor and Football Coach Lloyd Cardwell gave short talks on school spirit during the rally. The school band under the direction of Dr. Robert Feister played.

Shack Dance Held Friday Afternoon

Television was forgotten in its corner Friday afternoon in the shack, as campus Joes and Jills rolled back the rug for the first of the Student Council Shack dances.

Approximately eighty-five jitterbugged to the tunes of a five-piece band. Making with the downbeat were Jack Irwin, bass; Steve Schwid, trombone; Irv Jones, piano; Dick Bauer, drums; Bob Dain, trumpet.

The shack was kept jumping from 3 until 5 Friday afternoon.

University Records March of Progress

By Father Time

What are the elements of the conception, building, and ultimate success of a University?

A brief outline of the historical steps in the development of the University of Omaha can easily answer the question.

In 1908, a group of citizens with a dream to provide a college education for all young people in Omaha incorporated a university and in September, 1909, enrolled twenty-six students under five teachers, with Dr. Daniel E. Jenkins, as OU's first president.

The old Redick mansion on 24th and Pratt Streets served as the first classroom building. Growth was rapid and amazingly persistent, with two other buildings following Redick Hall.

Not Enough Money

About 150 were in attendance in those genetic years. The financial situation of the school was so uncertain that the students came to class on Monday "to find out if they would have school that week . . ."

The fuel for the University's survival was that ever scarce commodity — money. To keep their educational dream alive, friends of the University knocked on doors and rang telephones to solicit the green stuff.

The era of bathtub gin and raccoon coats seemed to have educational as well as immoral leanings, for that period saw an increase of enrollment to student bodies numbering over 400. In these years, the University had a College of Arts and Sciences, a College of Commerce, a Law School, and a School of Music.

In 1928, University leaders saw the possibility of the whole program collapsing for lack of funds so they began to persuade the state to allow the city to take over the school. One year later, a major step towards survival was taken — the Nebraska Legislature passed an Enabling Act, authorizing cities of metropolitan size to set up Municipal Universities.

Omaha Votes 'Yes'
The Omaha voters gave their blessings to the program and voted to establish the Municipal University of Omaha.

The Omaha School Board appointed a nine member Board of Regents, who in turn selected the present campus site at 80th and Dodge Streets.

In 1938, the present building was erected. Completely air-conditioned, it is now valued at a million and a half dollars.

Under the guidance of President Rowland Havens, who became president in 1935, the University made significant advances in faculty personnel, curriculum expansion, and national accreditation. School Fully Accredited

Omaha University is now fully recognized by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools (of which our own Dr. Milo Bail is now national president) and six other leading educational societies. Its course credits are accented by the nation's top-ranking institutions.

By the time President Bail took office in 1948, enrollment in the University day school had increased to 1,992. This post-war increase swelled by the GI Bill took a decline in 1950 and 1951, but this year's early enrollment points to another banner year.

With an increased building plant augmented by the erection of the Fieldhouse and Stadium in 1949, the increased mill levy, and a new AF-ROTC unit, the University story is a positive progression upward.

Winston Churchill's encouragement of his people in World War II might well be a commentary on the University of Omaha's will to survive and progress . . .

Churchill said, ". . . As conquer we must . . . as conquer we shall."

Jackpot to Atwood, Rings Up Baby Boy

By Hobie Stittrition

Master Sergeant George M. Atwood, assistant commandant of Cadets, is a father! The important thing is that it's the first time, and it's a boy!

At 6:30 Friday morning, general quarters was sounded at Offutt Field as Mars, Atwood was careened to the base hospital. Young Atwood weighed in at 8 pounds, 7 ounces for the main event.

The proud parents have named their offspring Brian.

Glen Bowker, feature writer for the Office of Public Information, roamed into ROTC office on the big day, searching for the vital facts.

Expecting pandemonium to reign, Bowker was shocked by the stillness of the room as the staff worked silently, unperturbed by the occasion.

Puzzled by the course of events, Bowker inquired as to their feelings on the situation.

Master Sergeant Ashford L. Round looked up to the waiting reporter and said wryly, "Among the staff there are 32 children, so it just doesn't bother us anymore."

Upon further investigation, it was found that 22 of the staff clan belong to the enlisted men, while the other ten are linked to the officers.

Your answer is as good as mine as to the significance of the trend.

Alumni Office School's Hub

What office in this University is more popular than the Shack, has more information flowing from it than the Registrar's and Business Office, and is a combination finance, public relations, and school promotion center.

This office has only one staff member plus a student assistant but is loaded with moral boosters and has a motto on the desk, "Smile, the Tiger is Loose."

At any time of the day, the door is flung open and in walks a human hulk, plunks down in one of two of the chairs and starts to read the sports page.

This office is the place of coordination for all alumni of the University . . . the Alumni Office.

Behind these portals are housed the personal records of thousands of OU graduates, files on their activities since graduation and rosters of the many organizations of OU pep boosters. Acting Alumnae secretary, Jean Duncan, '51, takes care of all correspondence with alums and keeps track of the grads.

"The Injun," the four page Alumni publication, is also part of the Alumni Office duty. Announcements are mailed to the Quarterback Club. The Alumnae office sponsors the annual "Auld Lang Syne" dance for graduating seniors and alums.

And in addition, the office supplies such necessities as needle and thread, scissors and paste, dance decorations, birth announcements, thumbtacks, pencil sharpeners, matches, and Scotch tape, to desperate faculty members and students.

The Alumni Office likes to maintain an "Open Door" Policy toward all students. Says Jean Duncan, "I want the students to know that there is an alumni association, not only for them after they graduate, but now. They are a part of the University alum now—sort of Junior members."

During the Homecoming season you will find the Alums staked out on the front lawn in the tepee and down at the official Homecoming headquarters at the Fontenelle Hotel.

The Alums have a rip-roaring time. They can. They have their sheepskins.

HELP WANTED

Good Example . . .

Last Friday, the library committee met in the first of its series to help plan for the new building. This doesn't mean that the first stone is going to be laid immediately, but it shows progress by one committee.

Early this semester, Dr. Milo Bail named two committees to work separately on plans and ideas for a library and Student Union. The groups are to report to Dr. Bail and the Regents in June.

It's good to see a committee which meets, and to see it actually deciding what's to be planned. The library committee begins its job, but where is the Student Union panel?

Students are always cautioned to begin working early in the semester, not leaving all the work till last. This is always stressed in the case of one big project-like a term paper. Then, if the paper is due, say in June, it can be finished unruled.

This seems like a good suggestion for the Student Union committee. Nearly everyone wants a Student Union, but not everyone will have something to do with it. Let's get them on the ball so the rest of us will know what is going on.

Maybe the Gateway is speaking too early, since the union committee hasn't met yet—but there's a lot of work to do.

World Series Viewers Divide Selves Into Character Groups

By Lee Nelson

Tempers were at razor's edge. Yankee and Dodger fans clashed noses as their favorites took the field in the vital Series.

At OU's Student Union, in exclusive circles called the "Snack Shack," the situation was the same.

'Doctor' Fred Bantin Proves Med Ability

An expert medical opinion was needed as evidence in the AFROTC trial being staged by the Air Science IV class on Military Law.

"Doctor" Fred Bantin was called to the stand. Before he could render the opinion as a medical expert, his qualifications as a doctor had to be substantiated.

Prosecutor Jack Fraenkel started a series of questions on "Doctor Bantin's" educational background. They were answered but Mr. Fraenkel still seemed dubious.

As usual, Major Robert E. Whaley, acting legal officer, set the court's mind clear as to Bantin's qualifications.

"Can you tell the difference between a bad cold and a broken leg?" the major asked.

Confidant of his diagnostic ability in this instance Bantin said he could distinguish between the two maladies.

He was immediately approved as medical expert in the case.

Student Pep Rally Shows More Spirit

Second Half Rally Gives Omaha Gridders 19-0 Win

Welling Shines as OU Trips Ichabods

An unsung sophomore quarterback came into the ball-game in the second half and engineered Omaha footballers to three quick touchdowns and a 19-0 victory over Washburn in the Indian stadium last Saturday.

Seeing little action in the first two games of the season because of a damaged thumb, Jerry Welling, ex-North high school star, broke into the Indian lineup Saturday and pleasantly shocked the 1200 spectators watching the previously evenly matched contest.

Scoreless First Half

After a scoreless first half, Omaha took the second half kick-off, but soon lost possession when Washburn intercepted a Keith Christie pass on the Indian 24. In four plays the Ichabods got nowhere and the Indians again took over on their own 25.

Two plays caused the Omahans to lose yardage clear back to their own 15, but on third down Welling dropped back-to-pass, got brilliant protection, and calmly dropped a 43-yard aerial into the arms of Bob Rose on the Washburn 42.

On the next play Welling picked up eleven yards on an end sweep and followed with a fake pass and a run for three more. Aksel Schmidt and Jerry Ziehe teamed with Welling to carry the ball to the two.

Welling Passes for Score

After a five yard offside penalty placed the ball on the seven, Welling passed to Bud Gibbon for the score. Aksel Schmidt missed his first conversion attempt of the season when his try for the point hit the cross bar on the goal posts.

Midway in the final period, Welling and his mates again hit the dirt on two long pass plays and a Washburn miscue. After passes from Welling to Maseman for thirteen yards and Welling to Schmidt for five, the Ichabods were penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness, placing the ball down on the Washburn one-yard line.

Ziehe Tally

Jerry Ziehe got the marker on a line plunge. Tony Roth never got a chance to kick the point, as a poor pass from center ruined the play.

On Washburn's second play from scrimmage after the kick-off, Schmidt intercepted a pass on the Ichabod 26 to set up the final Omaha tally.

Welling again unlimbered his throwing arm by passing to Jerry Tannahill, who outfoxed two defenders and made a circus catch on the goal line for the score. This time Schmidt converted and the Indians had their final 19-0 margin.

Defense Shines

Throughout the contest the Omaha line play on defense was the bright spot. On several occasions the Indian linemen stopped the Ichabod backs for long losses. The hard charging seven played havoc with Washburn passing attempts all afternoon.

Ends Don Maseman and Tom Bell played exceptionally well on the defense, smothering several plays and blocking one punt.

Bands, Card Section Perform at Halftime

Something new greeted Omaha University football fans during halftime ceremonies at last Saturday's Washburn game in the Indian stadium.

The first annual Band Day attracted high school bands from almost all of the local schools. Together with the Omaha University marching band they spelled out a huge "OMAHA" during intermission and played several numbers.

Also at halftime the newly organized card section put on their initial performance. The 49 member section presented two displays. One was a big "W" for Washburn and the other an "O" for Omaha.

Present plans call for a card section performance at each of the remaining home games this season. Maynard Tatelman, chairman of the group and instigator of the section, expressed hope that a great many more students can be enlisted to perform in the group.

Several new displays are planned for the Knox game Oct. 25.

Rifle Team Berths Remain Unfilled

Candidates for the 1952-53 AFROTC rifle team continued to vie for positions this week after keen competition caused a postponement in naming the twenty-man squad.

Practice firing for the candidates and returning members of last year's team is being held daily on the fieldhouse range. Movies and classes in rifle marksmanship will be held Friday in room 191.

Master Sergeant William Swink, rifle team coach, is conducting the classes. All points in the proper use of the rifle on the range are being taught to prospective squad members.

Plans are being completed to begin the intercity league competition later this week. Sergeant Swink is also attempting to schedule more postal and other school matches for this year's team.

Cage Candidates Start Pre-Season Workouts

As the football season wears on, basketball workouts come into the limelight at Omaha University. Head Basketball Coach Virg Yelkin's charges have been running through light workouts in the Fieldhouse for a week.

Any student interested in trying out for the varsity or the Papoose cage squad should see Coach Yelkin now in Fieldhouse office 1.

Also, any student interested in being a student manager for the varsity or "B" squads should report to Yelkin. Approximately 35 men have reported for cage workouts up to now.

Pierson, Tatelman Get Jobs as Cheerleaders

Two new members have swelled the previous membership on the cheerleading squad to a total of eleven.

Bill Pierson and Maynard Tatelman are the new squad members and are also the only male leaders on this year's team. Jack Frost has also been named to a position as alternate cheerleader.

The new men made their first appearance in behalf of the Red and Black at last Saturday's home game with Washburn. Previously the squad consisted of nine females who were chosen Sept. 27.

I'Mural Action Under Way in Football Loop

By Bobby Peck

With the coming of fall, comes the organization of the intramural football league. This year there will be a six team league in operation.

Organizations fielding eleves are Sigma Phi Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, ISA, and the ROTC. Pi Kappa Alpha is the defending champion.

The league teams will play through a five-week schedule with the top four teams clashing in a double elimination playoff at the end of the regular season.

Started Yesterday

Football rosters for each team must be submitted to Intramural Director Ernie Gorr by 3 p. m. this Thursday. Games will be played every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, on the field just west of the Fieldhouse, according to Harold Sage, temporary Intramural Council Chairman.

League action started yesterday. Tomorrow Sigma Phi Epsilon meets the Independents.

The Intramural Council is going to get the bowling season underway as soon as possible. All persons interested in taking part in the kegling sport must sign up in Gorr's office by Thursday afternoon.

Bowling Due

Bowling will probably get under way a week from Thursday at the 40-Bowl.

The Intramural Council will meet this Thursday in office 3 in the Fieldhouse at 3 p. m. At this meeting the Council will make up the bowling schedule for the season.

Anyone with any Intramural information should turn it in to Virgil Yelkin's office.

Mural Supervisor Yelkin is planning to have the mural football schedule mimeographed so that everyone can have a copy. This should eliminate all confusion as to when games are to be played.

In Friday's mural football tilt, the ROTC will tangle with Lambda Chi Alpha.

Debate Frat Hears Speech

Paul Beck, associate professor of history, will speak this afternoon on the "Threat of Communism." He will speak at the Pi Kappa Delta, debate fraternity rush tea at 4 p. m.

The major point of Beck's speech is to combat communism. He plans to emphasize that we must be certain of the position on which there is not and cannot be a compromise. We must maintain that position with our entire intelligence and do all that one can to influence others to take a similar stand.

He further emphasized that we will not interfere ourselves, nor will we permit others to interfere with our privilege of choosing the policy making officers of our various governments. And that subject has no room for compromise for we will use all and any types of force to maintain our position.

The communism speech is related to the year's discussion topic. "How Can We Combat Communism?" George Wilbur, sociology professor, will speak on the "Fair Employment Practice Commission." He plans to explain the arguments for and against the FEPC.

Bob Dahloff will conduct the tea-meeting. Refreshments will be served. All those interested in debate and discussion are invited to attend.

Theta Chi's Plan Dance

The final annual all-Greek dance, the Theta Chi Sweater dance, will be held Oct. 17 from 9-12 p. m. at Peony Park. Eddy Haddad and his orchestra will play for the Greeks and their dates.

Each sorority will put up a candidate for the 1952 Sweater girl title. Each escort will have a chance to vote for the candidate of his choice. The Sweater Girl will be announced at the intermission ceremonies.

The dance is very informal with all Greeks required to wear sweatshirts.

"The dance will prove to be a very colorful event," said Bob Guide, chairman of the dance. Jack Fraenkel is co-chairman of the dance.

Social Events . . .

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha gave a Coke-tail party for all the pledges of Greek organizations last Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. The party was given at Darlene Buckingham's home.

The Dean's present were: Carl W. Helmstaedter, Frank H. Gorman, John W. Lucas, Mary Padou Young, William H. Thompson, Jay B. MacGregor, and Milo Bail, president of the University.

Refreshments of Cokes, sandwiches, and potato chips, were served.

The girls planning the party were Sally Renna, decorations; Donna Shogren, invitations; Mary Jane Jeter, clean up; Patsy Kavan, food.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity's pledge banquet was held at Riverview Park Pavilion from 6:30 to 10 p. m. last Saturday.

Thirty pledges and their mothers were honored. Actives mothers were also present. The banquet was served buffet style.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Jimmy White, pianist. He played by request from his audience. Also the actives and pledges sang the Army-Air Force song that they will sing during the Founders Day Convocation.

In charge of the banquet were Gordon Anderson, pledge master; John Sterik, president.

The Club

Leonore Marx was named temporary chairman of The Club at a meeting of the group Friday at noon.

Miss Marx will serve in her capacity until the first regular meeting later in the month. At the next meeting the active members will vote on members who have become eligible for membership this year. A general meeting will be later in the month.

Dr. Ralph Wardle and Dr. Robert Harper will serve as advisers.

SUCCESS

"I suppose it was hard to lose your daughter," said the friend the day after the wedding.

"Well," it did seem hard for a while," said the father, "but she landed the fellow finally."

Theta Chi

At the weekly meeting Thursday evening the Theta Chi actives planned their pledge banquet. The banquet will be held Oct. 18 at Sam Nisi's Sparetime Cafe.

There will be eighteen pledges. New pledge officers are Lyle Mad-dox, president; Bill Graddy, vice-president; John Kratky, secretary.

Arnold Air Society

The first meeting of the Arnold Air Society was held Sunday afternoon in the lounge of the Legion Club.

Nominations of a list for the Angels were discussed. Other points of business were the indoctrination of pledges and the arranging of committees.

The national convention of the Arnold Air Society is to be held Nov. 28-29 in Los Angeles. Plans are now underway for representatives from the Omaha University's Arnold Air Society to attend.

Sociology Club

The Sociology Club is planning field trips to the reformatory and mental hospital in Lincoln as part of its program for the coming semester.

The plans were formulated at the first meeting of the group. Prof. George Wilber is faculty adviser. Additional plans include the completion of the questionnaire project on Student Organizations started last semester and panel discussions of sociological problems.

Hannah Schuermann is president, Roger Cross is vice-president, and Florence Izenstat is secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 15. Guest speaker will be Prof. Max Burchard of the sociology department. He will give the group an idea of what to expect on the trip to Lincoln.

An intensive membership drive will be carried on by the club this fall. Any student who has had three or more hours of Sociology or is enrolled in Sociology at the present time is invited to join.
